

iBeast Business Solutions, Inc.

Web Development Services

Application Development

- ColdFusion, ASP, Perl, Visual Basic, COM and C++ for robust applications

Database Engineering

- SQL Server, MS Access and mySQL to power the backend of your content applications
- Database transfer, to integrate content from other platforms and legacy systems

Security and E-Commerce

- SSL encrypted applications, including secured databases, for the management of sensitive content
- Automated payment systems for online purchases

Additional Services

- Deployment of Web applications to existing Web architectures
- Code review for existing applications
- Global on-site consulting

Intranet Development

Intranets and Extranets are portals to connect your employees and customers with key company information to enhance your existing relationship. They can be located within your local or wide area network, or on a remote server within our data center.

Our Intranet and extranet applications are developed as cost-cutting solutions, tailored to address the most common departmental needs within every business:

- Sales and marketing applications
- Human Resources (online manuals, forms and directories)
- Manufacturing and operations
- Customer service and support
- Finance and accounting

From employee directories and bulletin boards to full-featured POS and business systems -- if it can be done through a web browser, the iBeast team is your technology partner for making it happen.

Our Process

The first step in any project is getting to know what the end goals are and what it will take to meet them.

We provide an initial, no obligation, no cost meeting to assess needs and gather information necessary to provide a comprehensive proposal to suit your needs.

All of our sites are designed to create experiences that your clients, customers and visitors will remember and appreciate. Our sites are customized to enhance your company's image and remain consistent with its integrity.

Every change must be approved before it is published to the Internet. While the site is being created you will be able to track its progress over the Internet at a location not available to the general public. You will be able to communicate with the design team via email, phone contact, and personal visits. We strive to maintain a feeling of ownership, after all, it is your business.

Once completed, we will not disappear. We are always available to answer questions, make adjustments and enhancements.

As an iBeast client, you will have privileged access to our web site, you will receive special announcements and offers, and be eligible for discounts and bonuses for referrals.